Don't drink and drive this St. Patrick's Day

Whether attending the parade, a party or celebrating at a local pub, decisions about how to get home safely need to be made before the celebrating begins. These practical tips are sure to work better than any lucky charm:

- Designate a sober driver
- Take public transportation
- Call a cab
- Stay where you play – plan to spend the night
- Take the keys if someone is impaired and plans to drive
- Don't ever get in the car with an impaired driver

In addition to the danger drunk driving puts on public safety, there is also a large financial risk. A DUI conviction in Ohio can run close to $10,000, including the fines, fees, and increased insurance rates. That's far more expensive than any cab ride.
